Art Nouveau style, and the Luderitz Museum, which tells the story of the town's importance as a diamond port. Arriving in Walvis Bay, a short scenic drive with sand dunes on one side and the rolling Atlantic on the other takes you to the colonial town of Swakopmund. You will then return to the Walvis Bay Lagoon which is renowned for its marine and bird life.

Once known as the "Paris of Africa," Luanda has suffered a traumatic recent history, but this tour reveals a city beginning to regain its confidence. Among the highlights are the Palacio de Ferro, designed by Gustav Eiffel of Tower fame, the colonial suburb of Cidade Alta and the fascinating Angolan National Museum.

REMOTE ISLANDS OF THE ATLANTIC OCEAN

After crossing the equator, step ashore for a relaxing day of tropical beach life at the exotically-named Principe Island resort of Bom Bom. Then, with a name meaning "beach" in Portuguese, Praia, the capital of Cape Verde on the island of Santiago, offers a great opportunity to "feel the flavor" of its many traditions. From here, a trip to the fort, cathedral and colonial houses in the old Portuguese capital of Cidade Velha provides an extra insight into the nation's history.

More well-known is the resort of Las Palmas on the island of Gran Canaria, but included sightseeing features the volcanic crater of Bandama, the pilgrimage site of Teror – known as the "village in the air" and the town of Arucas with its House and Garden of the Marquesa.

MOROCCO: AGADIR TO TANGIER

Arriving at the Moroccan port of Agadir, you will drive through the fertile Souss Valley to the old Imperial City of Taroudant to explore the ancient souks of the medina. Later, the Atlas Mountains lead to the labyrinthine Old Quarter and Marjorelle Gardens of Marrakesh.

Continuing onwards, rejoin Aegean Odyssey in Casablanca, then sail to Tangier for the lighthouse at Cape Spartel, the Kasbah Museum and a walk through the Kasbah itself. A short sail through the Strait of Gibraltar brings you to the Mediterranean city of Malaga in Spain.
